We all face personal hardships at one time or another either with our families or our friends. Many of us learn from them and can share our knowledge with others who may be going through the same hardships we once faced. We individually may also have knowledge of where co-workers or friends can go for help when they are in need, such as through local churches, community centers or local shelters. Do you have knowledge to share or are you the type of person who can help others in need?

You can help by joining the Detroit District Area Local HUMAN RELATIONS COMMITTEE

APWU President Keith M. Combs, Sr. and Human Relations Director Kathy A. Carter, are in search of Members interested in joining the Detroit District Area Local Human Relations Committee.
